

Week at a Glance Sunday, Jan 30, 2022

What a fun week of Literacy activities! Given the circumstances and not being able to invite families in, we had a great time focusing on books and functional literacy skills. I have received some fantastic photos for the "Caught You!" reading contest. It is not too late to send me your photos and be entered for some great prizes! Yolanda.lehton@sd71.bc.ca I have also heard some fantastic news from Tachi at Abraxas. We bookmarked some books in the store that we would love for our library and in two days the community sponsored them all!!! We are so grateful to live in such a wonderful community that supports our students and school library. Thank-you to everyone who bought a book for our library, I look forward to displaying them soon!

PAC/DPAC – Speaker series SD71 DPAC welcomes back Christopher Burt to present:

"Promoting Peer Social Competence:

Peer social competency, or the ability to engage and manage friendships, is a key skill first learned during the preschool years. For school-aged kids, this is further developed mostly through learning emotional regulation skills. This seminar helps parents/caregivers understand the next stage in kids developing peer social competency and gives suggestions on how they can support their school-aged kids hone these skills."

By Zoom on Wednesday February 2nd, 7pm-8:30pm. This seminar will be recorded, but the Q&A portion will not be recorded for privacy.
