

Week At A Glance June 19, 2023

Hi Denman Families,

Last full week of school and many exciting things are happening! First, happy Father's Day to all the dads and father figures out there, I hope you had a fantastic day. Second, Happy Summer Solstice! What a great way to spend this special day, celebrating National Indigenous People's Day on Hornby. We will be gone all day to Hornby School to enjoy some great celebration activities and local food. Hornby school has suggested that our students bring snacks to supplement the food offerings as there will be a lunch of smoked salmon, eggs and local breads provided as well as vegetarian and vegan options however some students may want their own snacks.

This week is also our first whole school and family fun day and BBQ. There will be lots of fresh healthy, food options for students and families with a build your own sandwich bar at lunch and a hot dog/burger BBQ with salads for dinner. Elkhaven has a tricky driveway and it is super long. If you are planning on driving and are not able to walk the 1km road in, we hope to have a communication system for traffic flow. Basically, if you are coming in to the camp between 2:30-3, great and then leaving after the jam around 7 that will work. If you need to go different than this, please try to park at the road and walk in. If you have any questions, please email anytime. It is going to be so much fun!

Salad bar This is the last salad bar of the year. Looks like we are making hamburger soup this week as well as a vegetarian version like minestrone. There will all kinds of random goodies for lunch this week.

Garden Collaborative: We planted a bunch of tomatoes that were donated by a community member and kept up the watering. Our Three Sister's bed is growing strong. We won't have a garden collaborative this week as we will all be on Hornby.

Have a great week!
