Total expenditure: $5060

Due to COVID, we can likely carry forward the remaining PAC funds, but Connie will double-check this.

Connie will be applying for the next PAC grant soon.

There is one big cheque for bursaries, cash to be given to students.
 There is another cheque for other items that the school has been billed for.
 Dee has left blank cheques, and Connie will cash them this week and bring back the cash for Murray.

Principal's Report:

Karma Taiji has been awarded the principal's job for next year and she is very excited to begin!

The irrigation system has now been installed. A salad from garden produce was served to staff last month.

Dave Lantaigne is very excited with the new camera equipment that was recently purchased with PAC funds. He plans on filming the grad ceremony.

There are 2 new students registering this week to start in the fall.

Our ISW led several initiatives to carry staff and students through the last week, after the discovery at the school in Kamloops.

There are 3 students who will be cross-enrolled with Vanier next year.

Kirsten Odegaard created Glacier View's first cookbook. This book contains recipes that the students have done throughout the year. Students were so excited to receive a copy of this book today.

The calm room is coming along. The space has been painted, and the acoustic panels arrived today. The lighting system has been installed and the colour of the lighting can be changed.

Backpack Buddies is a program that provides food on Fridays for some of our families. With the help of community volunteers, and they will be delivering food throughout the summer.

Grad:

The weather forecast is currently projecting partly cloudy with a high of 24. 14/29 students still have some work left to complete. Many of these students just have a few assignments left before they are done. This year there is $31,000 in bursary funds. We will have a grad that similar to the one that we had last year, but cars will not have to drive up to the staff. Instead, students can exit their vehicle and walk up to the stage when their name is called. Students will be given swag bags containing a Glacier View hoodie, an 8x10 print of their grad photo, and a grad cap.

Adjournment: 7:45 pm
