Comox Valley Schools invites community input on long range facilities plan

Comox Valley, B.C. – Comox Valley Schools is inviting our school community to share their input as the district updates its Long-Range Facilities Plan (LRFP).

The plan helps guide decisions regarding capital improvements to school buildings, sites, and learning environments throughout the district over the next 10 years, so these spaces continue to support student success and well-being.

A public survey is now available, providing an opportunity for the school community to share what matters most when planning the future of school facilities.

“The Long-Range Facilities Plan is an important part of how we plan for the future of our schools,” said Director of Operations Molly Proudfoot. “Hearing from our community helps ensure that our spaces reflect the needs of students, families, and staff – both now and in the years ahead.”

The Long-Range Facilities Plan is a Ministry required strategic planning document that supports school districts in managing their buildings and properties over time. It considers factors such as changing enrolment, space utilization, evolving programs, accessibility, safety, and sustainability.

The updated plan will build on previous planning work, align with the district’s Strategic Plan, and help inform future capital requests to the Ministry of Infrastructure.

The survey invites participants to share their perspectives on a range of topics, including priorities for school facilities, types of learning spaces, outdoor areas, community use, and how the district should plan for growth and change over time.

Input gathered through the survey will be combined with technical analysis and partner engagement to help shape a set of draft recommendations. Members of our school community are encouraged to take part in the survey, which is open from April 15 to May 13, 2026.
